IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF New York, deceased.

Before Jupp, c.J., FREAR, J. and Cir-

An appeal was taken from an order of a Circuit Judge sitting in Probate requiring the ancillary administrator to deliver the residuum of the assets of the estate to the domedilary administrator appoints don the state of New York. Held, such order may be made at the final hearing for the approving of the accounts of the ad-ministrator and distribution of the property of the intestate, (if no reason shall then appear why such order should not be made) but not before.

OPINION OF THE COURT, BY FREAR, J.

Conceding that, as held by Circuit Judge Perry, from whose decision this appeal is taken, the proper course under ordinary circumstances is for the ancillary administrator, after settlement of all claims, to deliver over, upon the order of the court, to the domiciliary administrator, the residuum of assets for the purposes of distribution, yet this is a matter within the discretion of the court, and the discretion of the court, and the set all those lands situate on the east side of Emma street, in Honolulia, and being:
